

2017 NEU Summer Camp of International Economics and Management Scholars

14 July – 25 July 2017, Shenyang, China

Your Summer at Northeastern University, China

Located in the traditional industrial base of Northeast China—Shenyang, Northeastern University, China (NEU) is a leading university directly affiliated to the Ministry of Education of China with around 40,000 students and over 2,600 teaching staff (528 professors), covering an area of over 625 acres.

Since its founding in 1923, NEU has been home to innovative thinking and technology transfer, with close ties to many historical events and figures in China. Guided by the university motto, “Live what you learn with unremitting efforts for a life-long self-improvement”, NEUers have created many firsts in Chinese technological innovation: the first university science and technology park in China, the first analogue electronic computer in China, the first listed software company (Neusoft) in China, the first CT scanner in China, to name just a few.

In 2014, the output value generated by the university technology industries reached 12 billion RMB, ranking 3rd in China, only after Peking University and Tsinghua University. After more than 90 years' development, NEU has established partnerships with over 200 universities in 34 countries around the world, attaching great importance to comprehensive internationalization in the new round of university reform.

Cross-border Exchanges & Cross-disciplinary Cooperation

The 8th Summer Camp of International Economics and Management

Scholars at NEU will offer you a precious opportunity to study FOR FREE with brilliant young minds from around the world. Eight prestigious experts from different countries will give you lectures on cutting-edge issues of economics and management. Learning happens when students come together, engage in conversation and dialogue, and work collaboratively. You will get self-improvement in global vision, wisdom, English skills, personalities, creativity and collaborative spirit in the Camp. After the Summer Camp, there are 3 days of Chinese classes and Chinese culture experiencing courses for the international students.

The international students will also

Enjoy Life Outside the Classroom

When you come here for the summer, you become a part of NEU and the ancient city of Shenyang. In addition to intensive studies and lectures, you could leave your young steps on the floors of Marshal Zhang's (NEU's 3rd President) Mansion, on the first walking street of China (Shenyang Zhongjie), in the garden of the first imperial palace of Qing Dynasty (Mukden Palace), and before the Mausoleum of Huang Taiji (Beiling Park), embedding a deep and special stroke in your life with the authentic experience in one of the most famous ancient cities in China.

When: 14 July – 25 July, 2017

Where: Northeastern University, Shenyang, China

Costs: No application fee or registration fee for the participants selected

Transportation and accommodation are provided for the duration of the Camp, plus international air tickets from your country/region of residence to Shenyang and back.

Teaching Team: ➤ Barun S. Mitra, the founder and director of a nonprofit, independent public policy research and educational organization, recipient of the Julian Simon Award 2005 from the Competitive Enterprise Institute.

- Dr. Victor V. Claar is a professor of Economics in the Henderson Humanities College of Arkansas, specializing in economics. His research interests include issues of multinational corporations, economics, ethic and the application of individual economics.
- Patrick Mardiniis the founder and president of theLebanese Institute for Market Studies – LIMS, the only free market think tank in Lebanon.
- Daniel J. Mitchell is a senior fellow who specializes in fiscal policy, particularly tax reform, international tax competition. Mitchell was an economist for Senator Bob Packwood and the Senate Finance Committee. Dan's work has been published in numerous outlets, including the Wall Street Journal, New York Times, Forbes, Offshore Investment, and Investor's Business Daily. He has appeared on all the major TV networks, and has given speeches in almost 40 states and more than 30 countries.
- Christopher Lingle, the Visiting Professor in the Department of Management of City University in Hong Kong, operates an independent consultancy that advises clients on economic and political risks in emerging market economies. He is known for his anticipation of the turmoil in the east Asian economies in 1997.
- Ken Schoolland, an associate professor of Economics and political science, director of the Entrepreneurship Center at Hawaii Pacific University in Honolulu.
- Per Bylund, an assistant professor of entrepreneurship and holds the Records-Johnston Professorship in Free Enterprise in the School of Entrepreneurship at Oklahoma State University, USA. He is not only associate editor of the Journal of Entrepreneurship and Public Policy but also an associated scholar with the Mises Institute in the USA and associate fellow with the Ratio Institute in Sweden.
- Li Zhao Schoolland has a bachelor degree in Japanese Literature from the Guangzhou/Tianjin Foreign Language Institute and two masters degrees in Japanese Literature from the University of Minnesota and in Japanese Business Studies from Chaminade University of Honolulu. She is a business owner and taught about the entrepreneurship spirit around the world.